Major General George C. Armstrong, USA
The Surgeon General
Department of the Army
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear General Armstrong:

It has been brought to my attention that the Armed Services Medical Regulating Office has, during the past several months, been of great assistance to the Central Intelligence Agency in the performance of its mission.

On numerous occasions and frequently on very short notice this Agency has found it necessary to call upon that Office for assistance. This has always been forthcoming in an efficient and friendly manner. Commander Charles L. Crawford, USN, Lieutenant Colonel Thomas A. Carilia, USA, and Major Thomas J. Reese, USAF, have consistently given unstintingly of their time and effort. For their splendid cooperation we are indeed grateful. It would be appreciated if recognition of their effort on behalf of this Agency is made a matter of record.

Sincerely yours,
